

Media and entertainment

Sedgwick's media and entertainment team offers specialist technical loss adjusting services across the event, film, television and media industries.

From adverse weather conditions to permit problems, equipment failure to an artist who fails to appear, event planners and production teams know one thing for certain: there are always circumstances that can't be controlled.

Sedgwick is here to help.

An international support network

Wherever you are in the world, Sedgwick's global network of experts can lead you through the claims process, mitigating risk and indemnity spend, as well as protecting your brand reputation and commercial relationships.

An international support network

When an event or production doesn't go as planned — because of damage, interruption, postponement or cancellation — a Sedgwick specialist will assess and determine the extent, cause and financial consequences of the disruption, including:

- Expenses
- Possible liability
- Possible damaged material
- Lost profits

Underwriting/medical assessment

As you prepare to organize an event or production, Sedgwick can assess the health of your cast and crew in advance, in order to secure the proper insurance before your project begins. To do this, we'll:

- Assess the health declaration or examination report
- Advise on the risk of incapacity for work during the period of the event or production

Our health assessments are based on health certificates; we can also facilitate health examinations if necessary. All medical assessments are conducted by a medical advisor with the appropriate medical registration.

—

For more details, please contact our team:

LIESBETH NOREL

Media and Entertainment Specialist,
Major and Complex Loss
T. +31651985240

MARC SCHULING

Marine Special Practice Group Leader
T. +31682701479

You may also email us at

EVENTCLAIMS@NL.SEDGWICK.COM

To learn more about our media and entertainment, visit SEDGWICK.COM